The Headphone Question

People consider many things when deciding whether to save or spend money. Read the story. Then, decide which headphones Avery should buy.

Avery was using her headphones to listen to an assignment for school when the headphones stopped working. Her parents helped her look online to find new headphones she can use for both schoolwork and listening to music. One pair was $25 but did not have good reviews. Many reviews said that the headphones didn't sound good and stopped working after a short time. Another pair was $40 and had great reviews. That pair also came with a one-year warranty that would provide a new pair if the headphones stop working within a year.
